1. Claims 17-43 are pending.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 17-43 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Double Patenting

3. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 17-43 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory double patenting over claims 1-40 of U. S. Patent No. 7,167,919 B2 ('919) since the claims, if allowed, would improperly extend the "right to exclude" already granted in the patent.

The subject matter claimed in the instant application is fully disclosed in the patent and is covered by the patent since the patent and the application are claiming common subject matter, as follows:

Art Unit: 2619

('919) 10. A server for use in controlling access to a peripheral device by a user, wherein the peripheral device is accessible by the user based on access management information accessible by the server, the server comprising a processor executing steps of: receiving authentication information corresponding to a user, from a computer for transmitting a job to the peripheral device; authenticating the user using the authentication information; determining whether the user is authorized to use at least one portion of features and/or services of the peripheral device; and transmitting access management information for the user to the computer, in case that authentication of the user is successful and the user is authorized to use at least one portion of the features and/or the services of the peripheral device, wherein the transmitted access management information is used to determine whether a feature and/or a service of the peripheral device necessary to perform the job is available to the user.

(Application) 17. A method for controlling access to a peripheral device by a user, wherein the peripheral device is accessible by the user based on access management information, and wherein the peripheral device is constructed to provide the user with a plurality of features and/or services including at least one of a printer service, a scanner service, a facsimile service and a copy service, the method comprising: receiving, at a computer, from a server, access management information which specifies a feature and/or a service of the peripheral device available to the user from among the plurality of features and/or services of the peripheral device, or which specifies a feature and/or a service of the peripheral device not available to the user from among the plurality of features, and/or services of the peripheral device; receiving, at the peripheral device, the access management information and a job from the computer; determining, at the peripheral device, whether the user can use the feature and/or the service of the peripheral device necessary to perform the received job, based on the received access management information; and performing, at the peripheral device, the received job in a case that it is determined that the user can use the feature and/or the service necessary to perform the received job.

Furthermore, there is no apparent reason why applicant was prevented from presenting claims corresponding to those of the instant application during prosecution of the application which matured into a patent. See MPEP § 804.
